Kendall Square is where science happens, and innovation is born.

For 400 years, innovation is what we're made for. Our long list of landmark developments includes flexible fire hoses, synthetic penicillin, the Apollo 11 navigation system, microwave, Human Genome Project, Roomba, COVID vaccines, and more. Problem-solving innovation is our past, present, and future.

The world works here

In Kendall Square today, we're tackling global challenges in fields from life science to artificial intelligence, climate change, information technology, transportation, and more. Advancing science and tech worlds with creativity, agility, and a dose of audacity.

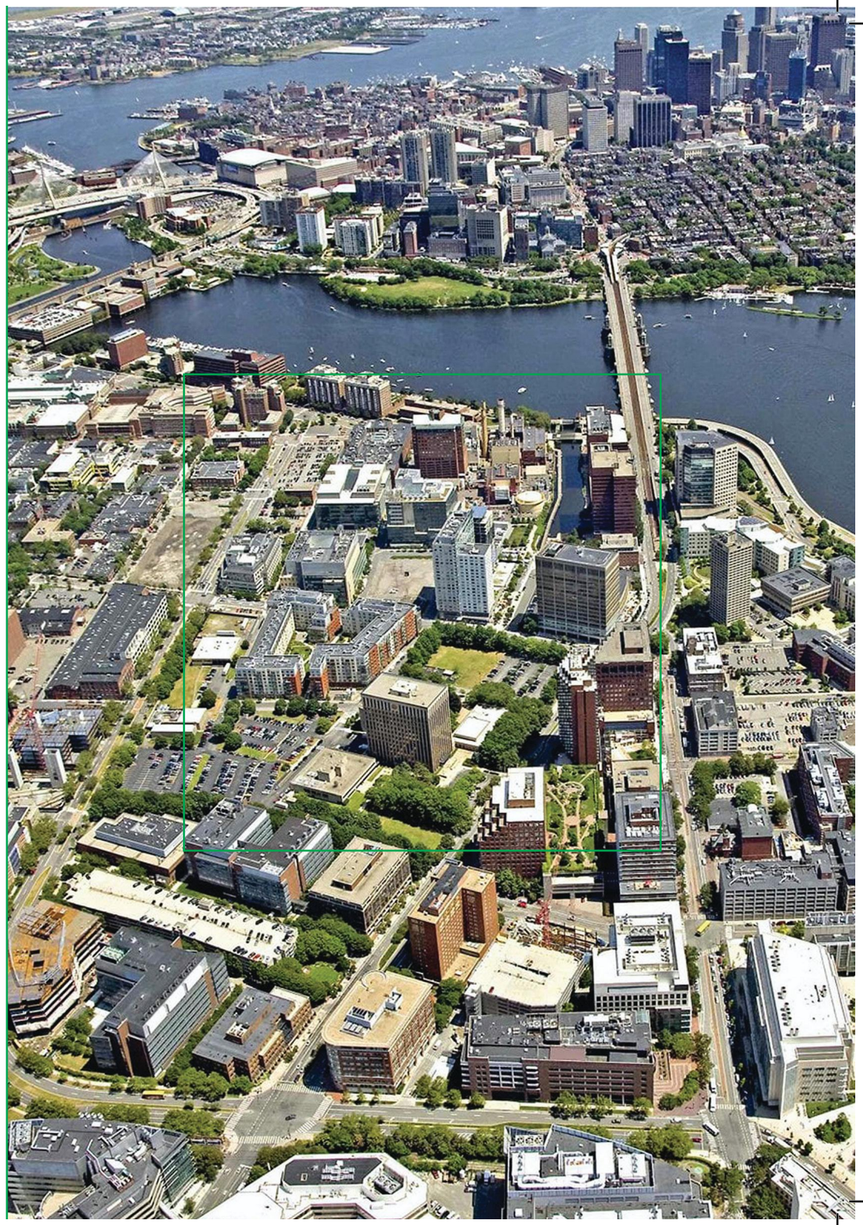

"Kendall is known as a community where we take on big things. And this is a place where great minds can come together with great ideas and make impossible things possible.

–LEE MCGUIRE
Chief Communications Officer,
Broad Institute of MIT and Harvard

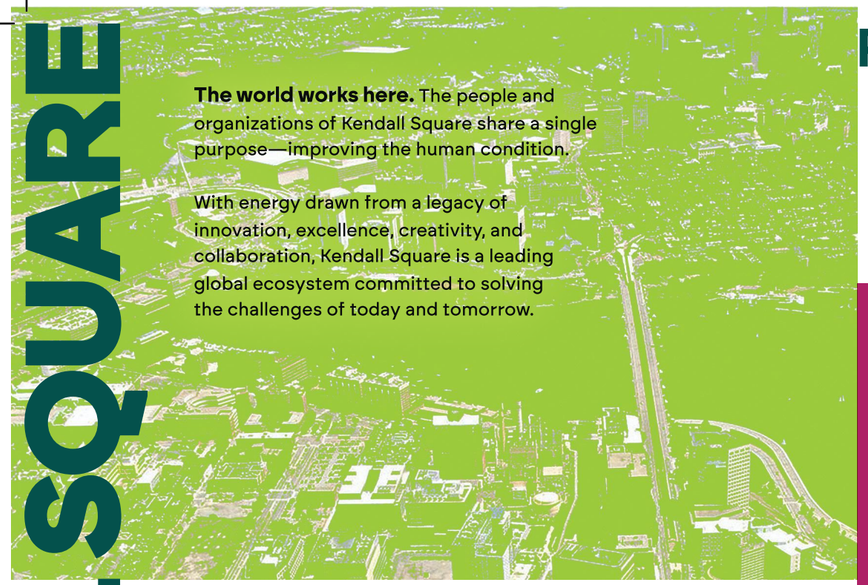

"Kendall Square is truly one-of-a-kind. This community's openness to working together, to being challenged, to pursuing something is why it's unparalleled in its contribution to tackling some of the world's biggest health challenges.

–ULI STILZ
Senior Partner,
Flagship Pioneering

Kendall Square is the place to make a positive impact on the world. People and organizations come to work, study, live, and play because here, purpose-driven people and organizations thrive. Together, we lead the world.

KENDALL SQUARE

The world works here. The people and organizations of Kendall Square share a single purpose—improving the human condition.

With energy drawn from a legacy of innovation, excellence, creativity, and collaboration, Kendall Square is a leading global ecosystem committed to solving the challenges of today and tomorrow.

We are KSA. Formed to serve the needs of our members, KSA sustains and fuels the ecosystem by connecting and convening members on topics that matter, amplifying and promoting our members' work, and advocating for a vibrant, sustainable future for all in Kendall Square, and beyond. KSA is essential.

Purpose-driven. Innovative. Vibrant. Collaborative. Welcoming.

Connect & Convene

KSA amps up the bump factor.
In Kendall Square you can meet people from academia, life science, tech, venture capital, startups, and some of the largest corporations in the world.

Through support of our ever-evolving ecosystem, we thoughtfully nurture the connections among people and organizations who care about improving the human condition.

Amplify & Promote

When we amplify and promote our members, people and organizations from around the world learn about us, and come to live, work, study or simply meet and collaborate.

We share our members' impact with each other, and with the world.

Learn about your Kendall Square neighbors, their work, and all that's happening here through our weekly newsletter, social media, Kendall Calendar, or our website.

Collaborate & Advocate

Tackling challenges together is essential to our shared future in Kendall Square and beyond.

Transportation, Infrastructure, Housing, Energy, and Vibrancy are all challenges no one member can take on alone.

Working collectively, we make an impact.

We gather data. We listen to our members. We forge relationships with government officials, advocates, and allies in the city, state, and beyond. We develop policies and strategies to support our ever-changing, innovative, and caring ecosystem.

We advocate for Kendall Square.
